Financial Goals

These are more specific goals you wish to achieve from current or potential financial strategies. It is the attainment of these goals that will enable you to achieve your lifestyle objectives. Please tick all that apply to you.

- Generate an annual income of $ in retirement to fund living expenses.
- Build wealth and accumulate assets tax-effectively for retirement.
- Build wealth (other than for retirement) tax-effectively.
- Review your current investments to determine if they are aligned to your goals. Diversify your assets across a broader range of investments.

- Have more control over and have a better understanding of your investments.
- Manage your income and cash flow to improve your financial position.
- Secure your standard of living in retirement by producing a stable income.
- Protect yourself and/or your family in case of illness, accident or death.
- Provide for your beneficiaries in a secure and tax effective way.
- Save for a short-term goal (e.g. home deposit, overseas holiday).
- Ensure your mortgage is paid off by retirement.
- Consider ways to manage your investments and professional assistance.

Achieve total financial independence by year

What's important to you?

What are your financial priorities?	YES	NO
Is growing the value of your assets important to you?
Is the reliable generation of income important to you?
Is leaving assets to your beneficiaries important to you?
Is the tax efficiency of your affairs important to you?
Do you understand these financial concepts?	YES	NO
Inflation is the rate prices that increase each year.
Income investments like term deposits earn interest however, the capital value decreases due to inflation.
Growth assets like real estate and shares grow in value over time, however, sometimes decrease in value in the short term due to market fluctuation.?
When investment markets fluctuate, it is referred to as market volatility. Volatility does not mean you lose money.
